The Lenich Valley Railroad Extension.—
The Lenich Valley Railroad Company are pushing with all possible rapidity the continuation of their road from Easton to Lake Ontario, an enterprise of great importance to the city and State. The portion from White Haven to Wilkesbarre, a distance of forty miles, has just been completed, and its opening was celebrated on Wednesday by an excursion from this city to Wilkesbarre. Invitations to participate in this trip were extended to all the prominent railroad men in Philadelphia and the neighborhood, as well as to the members of the press and others. cannot men in Prindeiphia and the neighborhood, as well as to the members of the press and others. Among those who made up the party were Judge Woodward, of the Supreme Coart; the Hon. Asa Paeker: William H. Gatzmer, President of the Camden and Amboy Rallroad Company; william W. Longstreth, President of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company; and General R. F. Stockton, of the Delaware and Raritan Canal Company.

A special train by the North Pennsylvania Railroad left this city on Wednesday moraing, with the excursionists on board. They proceeded over the new road, examining it minutely, and with great satisfaction. On Wednesday evening, the officers of the Lehigh Valley Roadgendered their guests a banquet at the Wyoming Valley Hotel, at Wilkesbarre, Chief Justice Woodward presided, and several interesting addresses were delivered. Mr. William H. Gnizmer, President of the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company, in the course of his remarks, made the following interesting statement:—

"In 1768 anthreate coal was first used in Warning."

"In 1788 anthracite coal was first used in Wyoming Valley by a blacksmith. In 1790 coal was first known in Schuyikili county, and blacksmiths used it there in 1794. In 1808 it was used in grates by Judge Fell, of Wilkesbarre. In 1815 the navigation of the Schuyikili commenced, and in 1820 the Lehigh Canal carried 595 lons of coal, below equal to one ton per day for that year. In 1866 the several coal districts produced 12 000,000 tons. equal to 31,000 tons per day. The anthracite coal fields on the Southern or Schuyikili District cover an area of about 187 square miles, or $3,000 acres: the Middle Listrict 125 square miles, or $0.00 series the Middle Listrict 125 square miles, or $0.00 series: the Northern or Wyoming and Lackswanna District, 188 square miles, or 125,000 acres."

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the excursionists left Wilkesbarre on their return to this city, where they arrived early last evening, much pleased with their trip.

A Young Forger—His Successful Operations but Short Carren.—On the 10th of April a young man, giving his name as Lorenzo B. Sheppard, obtained $940 on sundry notes forged upon the First National Bank of Albamy, bearing the signature of John B. Taets. A short time prior to this operation he had obtained $250. A glance at his diary exhibits details of a Western trip, commenced on May 9th, from Albany to Rochester, when, after sojourning in that place with ease and comfort for a short period, he journeyed to Philadelphia. Here he made his stay, became intimate with some of our first families, associated with some of our principal business men and gentlemen of retirement, put up at one of the spacious hotels, gave elegant dinners, was invariably attended by a colored servant man, and, in fact, lived a fast life generally upon the fands he had so illegally obtained. By means of a note which in some dishonest transaction, so it is said, had come into his possession, he obtained the funds on its presentment to Messra. Edward Robins & Co., of this city, upon whom it had been drawn. With the amount of this note, and doubtless with other funds obtained in the same manner, he travelled to the sunny South, which most likely was not quite so hot as was this city for him at that time.

Returning here and renewing his old mode of life, his operations became known. Yesterday, Detectives Ge. rge. H. Smith and Joshua Taggart arrested him at his rooms. When searched there were found upon his person two notes, both drawn upon the First National Bank; one for $600, signed by Messrs. Edward Robins & Co., and another for $575, dated May, 1367, bearing that the sudden and continual drawings on checks signed by Mr. Taets at various times might lead to his own detection. He says that he was educated at a naval school, but it is, palpably evident that his practices are at great variance with his teachings.

He is held to await a requisition from the Albany anthorities, when he will be immediately transported to that place. A Young FORGER-HIS SUCCESSFUL OPERA-

THE TRACHERS! INSTITUTE .- This morning a THE TRACHERS' INSTITUTE.—This morning a meeting of the officers of the Teachers' Institute, of Philadelphia, was held, for the trausaction of business. Such an institution has long been needed in this city, and we are rejoiced to see that it is getting into good working order. The membership is made up exclusively of the teachers of the public schools, and the object is to promote their individual and professional interests. A series of lectures in aid of the interests. A series of lectures in aid of the enterprise is in contemplation, the proceeds of which will go towards the purchase of a library for the use of the members. A donation of $3000 has been made by the Legislature, and judiciously invested. It should be remembered that one of the objects of the association is the relief of such of the teachers in our public schools as may need assistance in sickness and old age; and for this reason, if for no other, every possible encouragement and aid should be extended by the general public.

To morrow morning, at 10 o'clock, the Secretary and Treasurer of the Institute will be in attendance at the Girls' High School, on Sergeant street, to receive the names of members of the Institute, and their annual dues.

THE RECAPTURE OF A THIRF .- On the 15th of December last, William and George Bratton were arrested in the Thirteenth District for the were strested in the Thirteenth District for the larcepy of twenty-four chickens, valued at $24. They were placed in the cell of the Station House, to be there retained until a hearing should be given them. While the officers were at dinner on the day of the arrest, the brothers determined to escape. The seats in the cell are fastened to the floor by means of iron rods bolted on the underside of the floor timbers. This is done in order that neither the crazy or drunken inmates, who may from time to time inhabit them, can break the benches or tear them from their places. The brothers, grasping this rod, and uniting their strength, drew the rod and bolt through the floor. Thus armed with a pry they soon tore off the side timbers, which had at some time previous been almost cut through by a brother operator. The brothers which had at some time previous been almost cut through by a brother operator. The brothers by this means escaped, and started for the coast, where for a long time they were employed in canning cysters. Thinking that it had all blown over, William Bratton returned last night, and to his consternation was immediately rearrested in the Nineteenth Ward. Alderman Ramsdell held him in $1000 bail to spawer.

A CHARGE OF DEPRAUDING .- John W. Smith Was arrested at a disorderly house on the corner of Fourth and Coates streets yesterday. The charge is that he, with some other persons yet unknown, set up an office and advertised to fill all manner of situations with competent persons. Their manner of operating, as alleged, was to have the verdant seek their aid, be given a situation verbally upon the payment to the was to have the verdant seek their aid, be given a situation verbally upon the payment to the firm of a stipulated amount as a guarantee of faithfulness. One young man did this, paying his $1-50, and soon learned that his situation, money, and agents were missing. Upon his allegation Smith was arrested, and was committed by Alderman Toland in default of $1000 bail to answer.

STEALING FEATBERS.—Charles Capis, aged STEALING FEATHERS.—Charles Capis, aged twenty, at a late hour last night was seen wending his way along Thirteenth street to Race. He carried upon his shoulders a large bag of feathers. An officer accosted him, desiring to anow where Capis was going with the feathers, and was informed to a Mrs. Bunting, in that neighborhood. Believing that at least no harm could come by it, he went with Capis to the place mentioned, and found that there was no truth in Capis' assertion. He was accordingly arrested, and held by Alderman Jones in default of $6000 bail to answer at Court.

THE DOMES OF THE GREAT YO-SEMITE-It is THE DOMES OF THE GREAT YO-SEMITE—It is understood that this last great picture by Biersiadt will be on exhibition next week in the southeast gallery of the Academy of Fine Arts. It is a painting of immense size, and, according to the opinion of the majority of New York art critics, is magnificent in composition and execution. Our connoissuers, and the public generally will soon have the privilege of judging of the technical beauties of the work, an opportantly of which they will not be slow to avail bounselves.

APPOINTMENT.-George B. Zane has been pointed telegraph operator at the Sixth lice Station House. Mr. Zane lost an arm in army during the late Rebellion, and the pointment is well deserved.

A BELLICOSE IRISHMAN was the cause of A BELLICOSE IRISHMAN was the cause of considerable excitement, followed by laughter, which, in turn, was succeeded by great danger, at the corner of Seventh and Shippen streets, yesterday afternoon. Barney Weish, white laboring under an overflow of animal spirits, succeeded in creating a disturbance. The drollery of his drunken mood caused laughter. Taking umbrage at this he drew a pistol, and flourished it in such a manner that a great distance was placed by ween tun and every animal. tance was placed between tim and every animated object until he was arrested. Alderman Tittermary committed him to answer for earrying deadly weapons.

Breaking of the Locks.—Yesterday morning a boat was entering the locks of the Schuylkill Navigation Company Company at Fairmount, when from some careless management it struck the lower gates, carrying them away. Had it come in contact with the upper gate (and the boat was brought to very near them), the danger would have been of a most strious nature. As it is, passage through for the present is impossible, while the lower part of the canal is filled with about one hundred and fifty boats, awaiting the repair of the gates. awaiting the repair of the gates.

A Malicious Act,-John Jones was the false A MALLIOUS ACT.—John Jones was the false name given by an elderly and disorderly man who was arrested in Fairmount Park. Notwithstanding all the warnings which have been made public that any defacement of the Park is a penal offense, he deiberately aprooted a besutiful bush. When arrested he was insolent, and used the most disrespectful language to Alderman Massey at the hearing. He was committed to answer at Court in default of $500 ball.

Snowing What the Cackling of the Gress Did.—Augustos Shultz, a German, who, it is said, is without a home, at a late hour last night entered the yard of a citizen in Germantown. This would have been a common occurrence, had he not gone directly to the pouliry yard, and there attempted to steal two fat, plump geese. But the latter, acting as did their ancient predecessors soon got up such a great cackling that Shultz was at once detected. Alderman Good committed him to STEALING GAITERS .- Cornelius Dunn and Robert Bartholemew, two boys, were taken in charge for stealing four pairs of ladies' gaiters. They were arrested at St. John and Charles street, and would not or could not give a sufficiently satisfactory account of their possessions to allow of their further liberty for a time. Two pair were identified, while the other remain at the Station at Front and Noble streets. Both the boys were held by Alderman Toland in default of $600 bail.

STEALING A GOLD WATCH AND CHAIN.—Annie Murray and Maggie Colton, two misses of the age of seventeen, were arrested last night on a charge of a robbery of a gold watch and chain. They live in a little house at the corner of Ashbury and South streets. To this a visitor came last night, and during his stay the articles were missed Alderman Tittermary committed them to susser a court to answer at court.

Arrested on Suspicion.—Two young men, giving their names as William H. Smith and Charles Raff, were last night taken in custody in the Second District. It is alleged that they are implicated in a robbery of a pocket-book from an oid gentleman whose companions they were for a short time. Alderman Tittermary held them for a further hearing.

BACCALAURRATE SERMON .- On Sunday even-BACCALAURRATE SERMON.—On Sunday evening next, at St. Mark's Church, the Right Rev.
Dr. Odenheimer, Bishop of New Jersey, will deliver the Baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the University of Pennsylvania. The occasion will be an interesting one, and the well-known ability of the speaker guarantees an elegant oration.

OBITUARY. MR. BULFINGH.

The death is announced of a well-known Boston writer, Mr. Buffinch. The deceased was a clerk in the Merchants' Bank, who dewas a clerk in the Merchants' Bank, who devoted his leisure hours to literary pursuits. In 1855 he published his "Age of Fable," which met with no success until, a few years after, his books were taken by Mr. Tilton, who sold large editions of them. His "Age of Culvairy," 'Legends of Charlemagne," and "Poetry of the Age of Fable," were nearly or quite as popular as the first named book came to be. An expurrated edition of "Shakespeare," which he commenced to publish at the beginning of the war, was a failure, and was never completed. His last book was entitled "Oregon and Eldorado; or, Romance of the Rivers." Mr. Bullinch was over seventy years of age when he died. He had never been married.

Fire in Boston.

Boston, May 31 .- A fire broke out to-day in the basement of the extensive planing-mill of Bisbee & Watson, at the corner of Causeway and Friend streets. The contents of the building, which consisted of extensive tiers of lumber, piled up waiting for use, burned like tinder, and but a short time elapsed before nearly the whole structure was enveloped in flames. The fire almost immediately communicated to a building in Friend street, and spread rapidly through it to the upper stories. portion was occupied by Merriam & Foster, furniture manufacturers. The entire stock and machinery of Bisbee & Watson were destroyed. The loss is from $25,000 to $30,000, fully insured. The loss of Merriam & Foster

Prisoners Sentenced in New York. New York, May 31 .- John H. Trapp, convicted of attempting to defraud the Government by forging bounty land warrants, was to-day sentenced to the State Prison for five years. Schnobel, the German who, some few months since, murdered his landlord, Mr. Heinrich, on the latter interfering in a quarrel between himself and his wife, to-day pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to the State Prison

It appears that Schnobel was, before coming to America, convicted of murder in Germany, and was subsequently pardoned on the occasion of some national festival.

Suppression of the National Republican. MOBILE, May 31 .- Yesterday's edition of the National Republican, a newspaper here, has been suppressed by order of the Commandant of the Post, and a guard placed over the office. Its future publication is prohibited until the proof-sheets have been submitted to the Commandant. The order for suppression says that the paper was rendered answerable by the last paragraph of the General Order May 19th, prohibiting the publication of articles inciting riot, violence, or the public use of in-cendiary language. The article referred to was one instructing freedmen when and how to use fire-arms.

Decision Relating to Sewing Machines. New York, May 31.—Judge Daily, in the Court of Common Pleas, decides that the peculiar form of a manufactured article may become a trade-mark, and accordingly has issued an injunction restraining Bartlett and others from making or selling sewing machines in the letter G shape.

CONGREGATION OF SOVEREIGNS. NAPOLEON'S PREPARATIONS TO RECEIVE KING WILLIAM AND THE CZAR ALEXANDER-THE PALACE OF THE ELYSEE AND ITS REMINISCENCES -HOW THE PEOPLE OF PARIS MAY WELCOME THE RUSSIAN EMPEROR, ETC.

Paris (May 8) Correspondence of the London Times.

The Government papers speak with intense satisfaction of the approaching visit of all the European sovereigns to Paris, which they give as certain. The Prince Royal of Prussia is, it seems, impatiently awaiting the end of the London Conference to fulfil his duty as President of the Prussian Exhibition, and apartments are already preparing for him at the Prussian Embassy. Towards the end of the present month the Corr pays a visit to Copennagen for a few weeks, and then comes to Paris, where he will meet in June, King Whilam. His Prussian Majesty will hold his headquarters at the Tuileries, and the Emperor of Russia will be lodged at the Elysee, Faubourg St. Paris (May 8) Correspondence of the London Times.

Honore.

This palace, by-the-way, has had in its time many illustrious occupants. It was once the property of Madame de Pompadour, the alipowerful mistress of Louis XV. From the Pompadour it passed into the possession of the famous banker Beaujon, who has left his name to a quarter of that faubours; and after him became the property of the Duchess of Bourbon, until she fied before the Revolution. Under the Republic it was declared pational property. the Republicit was declared national property and was turned into a national printing office. Soon after Brumaire—the Brumaire of Bonaparter it was sold and the grounds made a public garden.

It was subsequently bought, almost for a song, by Murat, and on his promotion to the royalty of Naples, again reverted to the State, and became a favorite town residence of the first Napoleon. The Emperor of Russia resided and became a favorite town residence of the first Napoleon. The Emperor of Russia resided in it in 1814, as his nephew will do in 1857, and Napoleon passed some of the Hundred Days there on his return from Elba. In 1816 Louis XVIII gave the Elyses to the Duke de Berri, and on his assassination it fell to the Düke de Bordeaux, now Count de Chambord.

When the present Emperor of the French was preclaimed President of the Republic, the Elysee, once called Bourbon, then Napoleon, then National, and now again Napoleon, was assigned to him as his official residence; but it is greatly changed since I saw him escorted to it on the evening of 20th December, 1848. It was then a gloomy, neglected looking edifice, and it is now a gorgeous palace, and on its restoration and decoration inside and ontside untold sums have been expended. The spacious garden, which makes it a far more pleasant abode than the Tuilerles, opens into the avenue Marigny, the whole property having once belonged to the Marquis of that name, from whom it was purchased as a residence for ambars and one of the control of the co once belonged to the Marquis of that name, from whom it was purchased as a residence for ambessadors extraordinary by Louis XV after the death of La Pompadour. The stables and outhouses have been greatly increased, and spacious guard-houses built within the last tenyears; and on the opposite side a wing has been added, on the site where once was the hote of Marshal Sebastiant. It was here that the coup a'ctal of December was planned; but if the waits of the Elysee-Bourbon, or Nagoleon, or what of the Elysee-Bourbon, or Nagoleon, or what ever be its proper name, could speak, they might tell many curious stories besides. There is no doubt that if his Majesty of Russia. There is no doubt that if his Majesty of Russia comes to this capital he will be received by his comes to this capital he will be received by his comes to this capital he will from the population of What he may meet with from the population of What he may meet with from the population of republicans, but from statid, orderly men of republicans, but from statid, orderly men of middle age not personally hostile to the Czar, nor intense admirers of Poles past or present,
